ABOUT ME

I'm Fron-End developer who is looking for an opportunity to change mi life and gain as much experience as possible. I've worked performing tests and writing documentation for three years in a totally different market, however for the year I've spent learning to code and diving into the tech world I've noticed that this skillset has allowed me to have a boost over my peers. I've been learning about Web Front End development for a year now, from looking at videos on Youtube and enrolling in different amount of courses platforms, all the way to getting a React Front End development certification from Coder House that lasted a full semester. I've created all types of front ends, using vanilla JS, working with bootstrap and even using React connected to a Firebase Data Base and Rest API. I have great capacity to adapt in changing environments, I consider myself to be highly committed, a fast learner and focused on completing my goals.
